YOUR TRAINER

Jason Dietz completed his dental-technician training in 1993.

From 1990 to 1998, he worked for independent laboratories. In 1995 he worked for a prestigious Sydney laboratory where he improved his knowledge with an emphasis on precious metal, ceramics and implants, under the watchful eye of a master ceramist with over 40 years of experience. He guided Jason in refining and expanding his knowledge in all facets of metal, implants and layering ceramics.

In 1998, Jason started his own full service dental laboratory specialising in ceramics, CAD/CAM, implants and acrylic prosthetics. During this time, he has continued to acquire technical skills by studying in Europe, Japan and America. Jason now runs a boutique dental laboratory in southern Sydney. He strives to manufacture products to suit every patient's style and budget. Annually he attends master courses to keep up to date with shifting industry trends and has advisory roles with Sirona and GC as a key opinion leader on materials and techniques.
