Dr Gabrielle Klingberg

Gabrielle graduated from the University of Adelaide in 2012 and began her career working in her home town of Murray Bridge at a private dental practice. The rural setting allowed her to develop and hone her general practice skills as well as learn good time management. At the same time she began working at Perfect Smile, a busy dental practice in the heart of the Adelaide CBD where she has been practising now for almost 6 years. The 12-chair private practice has a focus on the true meaning of holistic dentistry, and where cosmetic and aesthetic treatment is at the forefront of Gabrielle's day. The cosmetic focus of the practice fostered her love of orthodontics, especially in relation to Invisalign. She has been able to use the treatment modality not only to complete functional orthodontics but also for pre-prosthetic alignment to assist in positive outcomes for form as well as function.

She is a contributing member to the dental industry in South Australia, where she is a member of the Prosthodontic Society, Secretary/Treasurer of the Endodontic Society of SA, and is a board member of the Dental Research Education Fund which assist in the funding of the Milton Sims program within the country.
